

Foes Try To Put Draft On Ice Until January

Car Workers Adopt Raise Of 13 Cents

Detroit, June 16 (P)—Another segment of auto workers—the 4,000 employed by the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co.—today were in line for the 13-cent hourly wage boost that has become the pattern in the industry's third post-war round of pay increases.

The CIO United Auto Workers and Kelsey-Hayes agreed on the raise after seven hours of bargaining yesterday. Improved holiday pay and vacation bonus provisions also were included in the agreement.

UAW local 78's ratification vote will be taken this weekend. The union and the Ford Motor Co. went into their second day of contract talks but the UAW's demand for 30 cents more per hour was not slated for consideration for several more days.

Shortly before Kelsey-Hayes and the union reached agreement on a contract, the 13-cent wage boost was extended to 18,000 employees of the Hudson Motor Co. In the two weeks that have elapsed since it was first granted to 75,000 striking Chrysler Corp. employees, the pattern has been adopted by company and union negotiating teams at Packard, Kaiser-Frazer, Nash, Briggs and a number of smaller firms.

Nearly 80,000 auto workers outside the Chrysler group now have been given the boost.

State Slate Framed By Michigan Drys

Prohibition Party Goes After 50,000 Votes

Lansing, June 16 (P)—The Michigan Prohibition party today was pledged to campaign for 50,000 votes in the state election for a slate headed by Dr. Gordon Phillips of Detroit as candidate for governor.

Dr. Phillips, gubernatorial dry candidate in 1946, was named to lead the dry ticket at a one-day state convention here yesterday.

He is executive secretary of the Detroit Methodist Union and recently was appointed district superintendent of the Port Huron District Methodist church. He also is a trustee of the Methodist Christian Advocate Publishing company, of the Methodist hospital in Kalamazoo and of Adrian college.

Perry Hayden, head of Hayden Flour Mills, Tecumseh, was nominated the Prohibition candidate for lieutenant governor.

"We polled about 12,600 votes in the last election," said E. H. Munn, Jr., convention chairman. "This year we hope to gather up to 50,000 votes because we believe there is a growing sentiment for prohibition in the state."

Munn said the group also hoped to nominate county slates in about 30 Michigan counties this year as contrasted to slates for only six counties in the last election.

Advertising Mapped By National Guard

Lansing, June 16 (P)—The National Guard will open a $4,000 recruiting advertising program in selected Michigan newspapers next week, the first local newspaper campaign of its kind in Guard history.

Recruiting advertisements will be run in daily or weekly newspapers in communities having Guard units.

Coal Wage Dickers Kept Going By Ching

BY HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, June 16 (P)—Towering "Ching," the government's conciliation chief, moved in fast today in a bid to keep John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators from getting too mad to talk contract terms.

The operators broke off negotiations yesterday, saying the sessions were "futile" because of Lewis' strings on bargaining for a new wage-welfare fund pact. The present one expires June 30.

Ching called both sides to a meeting with him tomorrow morning, and Lewis ordered his aides to assemble one week later for what may be a strike strategy huddle.

The Southern Coal Producers association, which won a court order to force Lewis to include its representative in the industry-wide meetings, disagreed with the walk-out action of the other operators.

But for the moment, at least, the association was unable to do anything about it. Lewis said Joseph E. Moody, the association president, "walked out, too, leaving us sitting there."

Moody and his board of directors scheduled a meeting this morning (9 a. m. EST). The session took on new importance because of yesterday's rapid-fire developments.

The SCPA board could decide to invite Lewis to meet separately and make a contract. The United Mine Workers chief expressed the opinion at a news conference that two leading members of the southern group could negotiate an agreement if they wanted to because of their position in the industry. He named J. D. Francis, head of Island Creek Coal Co., and O. L. Alexander, president of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

The association represents southern companies and individual mines which produce one third of the nation's bituminous coal.

Rocket Ship To Fly 1700 Miles An Hour

Air Force Expands New Supersonic Research

BY JAMES J. STREIBIG
(P) Aviator Reporter

Washington, June 16 (P)—The air force plans to send its Bell X-1 rocket plane hurtling toward 1,700 miles an hour in a new series of high altitude speed tests beyond nature's "sonic wall."

This was learned today from persons familiar with the long range program for investigating supersonic flight. That strange—and until last year unexplored—region of speeds faster than sound.

Five men are known to have smashed through that barrier at altitudes generally about eight to ten miles above the earth.

The new tests are expected to take the rocket ship up to 80,000 feet—about 15 miles—which would be the highest man has ever attained. Two army fliers set the world record of 72,394 feet in a balloon in 1935. The highest plane mark is 59,492 feet, set in March by a British jet-fighter.

The air force is only beginning its supersonic research. It has ordered seven X-1's to expand the program. Two have been delivered at a cost of $4,300,000.

Thus far the air force has disclosed these new type research planes: (1) The Bell X-2, a swept wing version of the X-1 but made of stainless steel instead of aluminum; (2) The Douglas X-3, a wedge-winged piece of fantastic equipment expected to reach 2,000 miles an hour at altitudes of 40 to 60 miles above the earth; and (3) the Northrop X-4, a tiny flying wing intended for study of speeds nearer that of sound.

Cool Wave Lingers Over Lakes Region

Chicago, June 16 (P)—The mercury took another dip toward the freezing mark early today as cool weather lingered over the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were in the low 30's in northern Wisconsin and parts of lower Michigan for the second consecutive morning. The mercury was about 10 to 12 degrees below normal over most of the cool belt.

Packard Factory Idle; 10,000 Quit

Detroit, June 16 (P)—The Packard Motor Car Co. was shut down today by a walkout of its 10,000 union employees.

The closing cut off production of an average 65 cars an hour.

Recruiting Campaign Proposed To Build Military Manpower

BY HOWARD DOBSON
Washington, June 16 (P)—House draft foes rallied hopefully today around a plan to keep the issue on ice until next January.

The idea was trotted out late yesterday by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.). It drew quick support from several members opposing a peace-time return to selective service and a tentative endorsement from Rep. Short (R-Mo.) who is leading the floor fight against the bill.

House leaders said a final vote on the draft may not come until tomorrow, although they still hoped to finish it today. Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House armed services committee predicted passage by a wide margin—and without the delayed-action Shafer proposal.

Opening For Aliens
Among other amendments which Andrews said he thought would be rejected was one by Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) to allow the armed services to enlist up to 100,000 aliens for three-year terms. Upon completing their military service the foreigners would be eligible for American citizenship.

The Senate-passed bill contains a similar proposal. But the number of aliens was put at 25,000 and their terms at five years.

The Shafer plan would hold off registration, as well as inductions until next January 31. The law would go into operation then only if the president proclaimed, and Congress agreed by formal resolution, that voluntary enlistments had not produced enough men for the armed forces.

Inducements Provided
In the meantime, the services would have to conduct an intensive recruiting campaign. These would be major inducements:

1. Increasing the pay for all enlisted men 25 per cent.
2. Lowering the passing grade of the army's aptitude test from 80 to 70 points.
3. Accepting two-year enlistments with the same privileges as enlistments for longer terms.

The services would have to report monthly to a joint congressional committee.

The bill before the House would hold up inductions for 75 days and then permit them only if the president formally ordered a start.

Maritime Workers Hint At Slowdowns

West Coast Unions Set Strike For June 24

San Francisco, June 16 (P)—Slowdowns and work stoppages by some CIO West Coast Maritime Workers were forecast despite union obedience to court orders forbidding today's scheduled nationwide strike.

Five west coast unions last night rescheduled the strike hour for 10:30 a. m., June 24, when a 10-day federal court restraining order against it expires. They called on their memberships meanwhile to "intensify strike mobilization."

Speakers at a meeting last night emphasized the five-union statement that workers still retain "their right to quit for safety or other legitimate reasons."

Hugh Bryson, head of the CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards, told one meeting shortly afterward "we are going into a special safety campaign." Many of his audience laughed heartily.

At another mass meeting, Henry Schmidt, CIO longshoreman, declared the injunction "didn't say you couldn't work slower." And as the union statement was read, he interrupted to say:

"I want you men to read between the lines on this recommendation."

London, June 16 (P)—A Soviet embassy spokesman said today Russia has informed Britain she cannot accept the six-power London agreement to set up a separate West German government.

The spokesman said Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin told Sir William Strang, chairman of the six-power conference, on June 7 that Russia regards the agreement as a violation of the Potsdam pact.

Even during the negotiations which produced the agreement, Moscow radio and Soviet news-

Major Split Brewing On Tariff Law

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, June 16 (P)—Secretary of State Marshall and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.)—the chief promoters of bi-partisan cooperation on recent foreign policy—are closer to a major split right now than they ever have been.

The issue is the tariff-cutting reciprocal trade act.

As a result state department officials may swallow their objections to the newly voted revival bill and recommend that President Truman accept it rather than veto it.

If Marshall determines on that course, he probably will have to overrule his former undersecretary and now special adviser, Will Clayton.

Senator Shocked
Clayton, who fought the trade act battle in Congress, has been described as feeling that the bill which went to the White House yesterday is wholly inadequate to continue a workable tariff reduction program.

Vandenberg, on the other hand, helped write the compromise measure and argued in the Senate that its limitations would not injure the tariff cutting project.

The Michigan Senator further more has some rather uncomplimentary things to say about the state department.

He called its attitude toward the revival bill "stubborn" and said he was "shocked" to learn that the department had refused to give Senators certain foreign trade records.

"We cannot proceed indefinitely," he said, "at the mercy of an Iron Curtain."

Chicago's Mad Dog Slayers Sentenced

Youths Get 199 Years In Gangland Massacre

Chicago, June 16 (P)—Two youths, described as "mad dog killers" after they and a third man were accused by police of going on a shooting spree last December and slaying three men, were sentenced to 199 years in prison last night.

Judge Daniel A. Roberts imposed the sentences recommended by a criminal court jury which convicted the youths, James Morrell, 20, and Lowell Fentress, 19, of murder in the gangland slaying of John Kuesis, 36-year-old garage owner.

After Morrell was formally sentenced, Judge Roberts commented:

"If anyone should have 'burned,' as they say in the street, it is this young man."

Fentress and Morrell, in testifying at the trial, named Thomas Daley, 42, an ex-convict, as the leader of the gang and said he fired the fatal shots. They said Kuesis was slain because he had turned police informer. The state charged the other four men were shot because they witnessed the first slaying.

Daley was slain by police on Dec. 13 when he was trapped in Morrell's apartment.

Farmer Gets 199 Years For Killing Paramour's Father

Rockford, Ill., June 16 (P)—Glenn Marsh, 27-year-old farmer, was sentenced to prison for 199 years today for the murder of his paramour's father.

Marsh was denied a new trial before the sentence, fixed by the jury, was passed by Circuit Judge William Carroll.

Marsh was convicted of slaying Grant Muhrlin, father of Katherine "Kit" Anderson, neighbor of Marsh. Earlier, the slayer was acquitted on a charge of murdering Mrs. Anderson's husband, Vernon.

Muhrlin, 52, of Northport, Mich., and Anderson, 28, were shot to death Nov. 27 when Marsh burst into a Rockford home and seized Mrs. Anderson, forcing her to drive away with him.

Russia Rejects Pact For Separate State In Western Germany

papers indicated it would not be acceptable to the Russian government so their rejection today was not altogether unexpected.

It was, however, the first official announcement that Russia will not accept the plan, which applies only to the British, American and French occupation zones. All the six powers except France have approved the plan. The plan. The French assembly now is debating it. The other powers involved were Britain, the United States, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Wm. Karas Named Highway Engineer

William J. "Bill" Karas, 36, of Escanaba, today assumed the position of superintendent-engineer of the Delta county highway department, following his appointment by the commission in meeting last night.

He will succeed J. T. Sharpsteen who served the county as superintendent-engineer for the past 14 years and will report to Genesee county as highway engineer on July 1. Sharpsteen will there head one of the largest county road departments in the state. His headquarters will be in Flint.

Graduate Of Tech
Karas is a registered engineer and a graduate of Michigan College of Mining and Technology and of Escanaba high school. His first work for the road commission was in 1934. He graduated from Michigan Tech the following year and returned to Escanaba to work for the commission.

On Oct. 15, 1940, he entered military service with the National Guard and served with the U. S. Army Engineers for more than five years, including 35 months overseas. He served in North Ireland, England, North Africa, Sicily and was area engineer for the Allied Force headquarters in Italy.

He returned to the United States in Dec. 1945, and has held the position of civil engineer with the Delta road commission since 1946. He was a lieutenant colonel at the time of his discharge.

The motion to appoint Karas superintendent-engineer in an acting capacity until the first of the year, when the annual appointments are made, was made by Commissioner Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone, supported by Commissioner Henry Wylie of Escanaba. The vote was unanimous, and Commission Chairman Harry Greene of Garden expressed confidence in the choice of a successor to Sharpsteen.

Salary $4,100
The commission set the salary of the acting superintendent-engineer at $4,100 a year.

Applications to the position by Henry L. Schroeder of Marquette and Robert P. Pogg of Marinette were received and filed, and the applicants were notified that the position has been filled.

Karas is married and with his family resides at 1610 Seventh avenue south. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Karas of the same address.

Sharpsteen will work with Karas here until later in the month when he will leave for Flint.

Huge Spending Bills Face Hostile House

Stormy Reception Awaits Senate Global Aid

BY OLIVER W. DE WOLF

Washington, June 16 (P)—The Senate's $6,125,710,236 Global Aid bill headed today for a stormy reception in the economy-minded House which last week voted many millions less.

The Senate okayed the unprecedented sum by a 60 to 9 vote shortly after last midnight. It rejected by the House—as it undoubtedly will be—the bill will be sent to a joint conference committee for agreement on some middle ground before Saturday's adjournment.

The Senate action added well over a billion dollars to the House-approved bill. It did this chiefly by restoring the worldwide assistance program to a 12-month spending basis instead of the 15 months demanded by the House.

In actual cash, the Senate bill upped the House amount by only $145,000,000 and was still $408,000,000 short of the amount President Truman asked. Before its vote on the foreign spending bill, the Senate took still another step bearing importantly on American foreign policy. By a voice vote it approved a $3,666,733,250 appropriation for the Navy for fiscal year 1943. This measure also goes back to the House for action on a Senate boost of more than $125,000,000.

Anderson said he was picked up by three youths on the outskirts of Battle Creek about 4 a. m., and was forced from the car in Jackson county after being robbed of $1.75.

He said the youths showed him a gun in the car's glove compartment before the holdup. State troopers made the arrests at Coldwater an hour after the robbery.

Coldwater Youths Quizzed In Holdup

Battle Creek, Mich., June 16 (P)—Three Coldwater youths were being questioned today in the robbery of August H. Anderson of Chicago, a hitch hiker.

Anderson said he was picked up by three youths on the outskirts of Battle Creek about 4 a. m., and was forced from the car in Jackson county after being robbed of $1.75.

He said the youths showed him a gun in the car's glove compartment before the holdup. State troopers made the arrests at Coldwater an hour after the robbery.

Lumber Stocks Burn

Detroit (P)—A roaring fire caused more than $50,000 damage at the Carpenter Lumber Co. here late Tuesday. Flames 75 feet high aged out of control for an hour, destroying several thousand feet of lumber, old sheds and part of an office building.

Toll Of Northwest Flood Stands At 44

Crisis Passes Rapidly In Columbia Valley

Portland, Ore., June 16 (P)—The Pacific northwest flood toll stood at 44 known victims today as crests of the Columbia and Fraser rivers spilled harmlessly into the Pacific.

The exact toll of the flood awaits receding of the water to below flood stage in the lower valley.

The Red Cross holds the names of 30 men and women on its list of missing since the flooding of Vanport. The agency indicated it may add others to those missing from a file of some 200 persons it has been unable to locate. The unlocated list once stood at 715, but has been pared daily.

Army engineers report that, although weakened levees could still collapse, the flood crisis in the heavily populated lower Columbia valley is passing rapidly. Five days have elapsed since a levee ripped open. This followed a period in which the Columbia broke through earthworks at the rate of one a day for 13 days.

Rehabilitation is under way for 60,000 believed homeless in Oregon, Washington, North Idaho, Western Montana and British Columbia. Work on rebuilding broken roads, rails and utilities started a week ago. Flood-crippled industries are beginning to call back their crews for clean up prior to returning to production.

Sigler Convinced That Vandenberg Will Be Available

New Castle, N. H., June 16 (P)—Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan said today "I am convinced that Senator Vandenberg is available" for the Republican nomination.

"I don't think he will announce that he is a candidate," Sigler told a reporter at the National Governors' convention here.

"I don't think it is necessary for him to announce," Sigler said of Michigan's senior senator.

Sigler continued: "I don't think that he'll make a move to seek the office but that won't hurt his chances."

Sigler is chairman of the Michigan 41-member GOP convention delegation.

Arabs Won't Sit Down With Jews For Peace Talks

(By The Associated Press)

Arabs rejected today a United Nations proposal to make Jerusalem an open city and indicated they would not sit with Jews at the Rhodes peace talks.

The stern group commander in Jerusalem said that group does not recognize the armistice and will act freely on its own. He asserted the sternists will conquer all Jerusalem, all Palestine, and have ambitions in Trans-Jordan. If Jerusalem were made an open city, the Arabs would have to quit the old walled city and other parts they conquered last month. The foreign minister of Trans-Jordan said this would contradict the cease fire terms.

Jet Plane Landed 200 Miles An Hour

Mt. Clemens, Mich., June 16 (P)—Selfridge Field reported today that a jet plane pilot made a safe emergency landing at 200 miles an hour at the Army air base after noticing flames in the motor.

Turin Strike Ends

Turin, Italy, June 16 (P)—Turin returned to normal today after a 24-hour strike which paralyzed the city's heavy industry yesterday.

The stoppage was ordered to back workers in the Lancia Automobile company, Italy's second largest, who are engaged in a dispute over working hours.

Two Vetoes Under Fire In Congress

Washington, June 16 (P)—The House today passed over President Truman's veto a $975,911,700 appropriation bill shifting the U. S. Employment Service from the Labor Department to the Federal Security Agency.

Washington, June 16 (P)—Republicans in Congress, awaiting President Truman's next move in their tariff-cutting fight, prepared today to pit their strength against two presidential vetoes.

Congress yesterday sent Mr. Truman a one-year extension of the reciprocal trade act, with some restrictions on the President's power to cut import duties. There was speculation that he might veto the measure and insist instead on a three-year extension without restrictions.

But the bill has the strong backing of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), GOP Foreign Affairs leader in Congress. Rather than risk a break with the Michigan senator the administration might accept the one-year extension.

By the end of the day Congress will have come to grips with its third presidential veto in a week.

President Truman yesterday tossed back a money bill calling for almost a billion dollars for the federal security agency and the labor department. It was the first appropriations bill veto since 1934.

The reason: An amendment aimed at transferring the United States employment service from the labor department to the federal security agency. Mr. Truman said he opposed that—and added that it shouldn't have been included in a money bill anyhow.

Republican leaders in both houses said they expected trouble getting the two-thirds majority needed to override. The House

Violations Alleged In Holy Land Truce

Egypt Claims Jews Have Inched Lines Ahead

By MAX ROYD
Cairo, June 16 (P)—Egypt charged the Jews have been inching their lines forward since the truce started and warns that the Arab states will use force unless the front is restored. The Jews countered with accusations of their own.

The Arab warning was in a note the Egyptian government handed last night to Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator. It accused the Jews of exploiting the cease fire pact to grab strategic positions threatening Arab safety.

Abdel Bahman Azzam Pasha, Arab league secretary, said the league's military committee is meeting today. He said Bernadotte met last night with members of the league's political committee and discussed Arab complaints of alleged Jewish violations of the truce.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli spokesman said the British plan to give the Arabs a military camp today in Jewish territory, near Haifa. He contended this would violate the truce, because it would give the Arabs a military position they did not hold before the cease fire.

ASK TRANSFER OF ROAD FUND

M-35 Perkins to Trombly
May Be Improved

Delta Road Commission
Orders Radio System;
Is First In Michigan

Transfer of $36,000 credit in federal aid for secondary roads in Delta county to the state highway department to assist in improving M-35 Perkins, Rock and Trombly was asked in a resolution adopted last night by the Delta county road commission.

The resolution is addressed to Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner.

Each year Delta county is credited with about $36,000 in federal aid for secondary road improvements on a matching basis. The road commission is unable to match the funds, and the opportunity to obtain the federal aid on a matching basis ends June 30.

At a recent Road Builders association conference at Houghton the road commission suggested to the state highway commissioner that the county ask the transfer of the federal aid to the state highway department for improvement of the trunkline system in the county. The commissioner indicated the state would be interested in receiving the request, together with a recommendation on the location for the improvement.

The commission recommended that if the federal aid can be transferred to the state highway department, that it be expended in relocating and improving M-35 between Perkins and Trombly.

This is a five-mile stretch that crosses the C&NW railroad tracks. By relocating the highway east of the tracks both crossings would be eliminated. If the recommendations are adopted by the state, construction would not be expected to start until after the present paving season is completed.

Salvation Army Officer In Manila During Jap Occupation Visits Here

Colonel Alfred Lindvall, a veteran of 46 years service with the Salvation Army, nine of which were spent in Manila, including the entire period of Japanese occupation of the Philippines, says his visit to Escanaba at the same time Prince Bertil paid his respects to Upper Michigan Swedes here Tuesday was purely a coincidence.

But he's very happy it turned out the way it did. Given a choice, he would not have had it otherwise, Colonel Lindvall, you see, is a Swede. And like the young cyclist with the sign on his back in the Swedish Centennial parade here Tuesday, he is very proud of it.

"I agree wholeheartedly with Prince Bertil that Escanaba and the Upper Peninsula is very much like our Swedish homeland," said the Colonel in an interview this morning.

Same Lovskog Barrskog
The climate, terrain, foliage and vegetation are quite similar, he said, explaining in detail that the U. P. and Sweden both have the same types of "lovsyog" or deciduous trees such as birch and "barrskog" or evergreens such as the familiar pines.

Unlike the prince, Colonel Lindvall is traveling by automobile and train. He said traveling by automobile is fine because it gives one a chance to appreciate the countryside even more.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindvall have visited more than 200 Salvation Army centers throughout the United States, both the East coast and West coast, and currently are covering the Midwest. Escanaba, however, will be their only stop in the Upper Peninsula.

"We hold conferences and meetings with Salvation Army workers," he said, adding with a smile that the tour also gives him a chance to see the United States.

Traveling is nothing new to the Colonel, however. After attending the Salvation Army Training college in Stockholm, Sweden, where the Army is extremely active, he was commissioned a lieutenant in 1901 and then attended the Army's International Training college in London, England.

Upon completion of the latter work, he was assigned to the Argentine Republic to begin a long period of work in South America. In 35 years of service there, he had assignments in every South American republic except Venezuela, Ecuador and Colombia. He is quite familiar with the Argentine, Paraguay, Uruguay, Chile, Bolivia, Peru and Brazil.

He was promoted to the rank of colonel in Brazil in 1936, shortly before he began a nine-year tenure in the Philippines.

Although the Colonel expressed a liking for auto and train travel, he recalls vividly one long airplane trip he took out of the Philippines.

Food Supplies Low
Undoubtedly the many years of subjugation to the will of Japanese military authorities in and about Manila during the Nip occupation of the Philippines made the plane trip particularly memorable one.

"We flew in a large Army plane from Manila to Norway in 1946," he said. "It must have been one of the bigger ones because we had two U. S. Army generals aboard. We flew over India, making stops at Calcutta and New Delhi, and over Arabia, Egypt, and we stopped at Rome, Paris and London en route to Norway—a fine trip."

That was the trip that ended nine years in Manila. And, to put it mildly, the years under Japanese authority were not happy years.

Colonel Lindvall said the last nine months before liberation were by far the worst. Jap food supplies were very low then. The military had priority, and the civilians got what was left, which during those months was very little.

Lost 51 Pounds
He said he lost 51 pounds, dropping from a healthy 170 to a scanty 119.

"The Filipinos and Japs didn't fare as badly as the whites," he remarked. "They could always eat rice, but if you didn't like rice, it was too bad."

Because he was a citizen of Sweden, a neutral nation, the Colonel was interned only 114 days in a concentration camp. At the end of that time, he was permitted to live in his own quarters, but in 1942, his group had to move outside Manila because those quarters were confiscated by the Japs.

Although residing south of Manila in Pasay, they were permitted to use office space in the Christian Science church in Manila until 1944 when even that was confiscated by the Nips.

"Then, there were no offices until the war was over," he commented.

"We had many anxious moments during the battle for Manila because we were located right in the middle with the Jap forces on one side and the American forces on the other side," Colerians were very careful."

Describes Liberation
The arrival of the 11th Airborne division was a memorable occasion. "People yelled like mad when American troops arrived," he exclaimed. "Shortly before that day—February 11, 1945, the Japs had completed the devastation of Manila by burning most of the was due to try its hand at 9 a. m. (E.S.T.).

The Senate, meanwhile, scheduled a vote on another vetoed bill, this one aimed at letting railroads agree on rates without fear of anti-trust action, provided the Interstate Commerce Commission approved.

On Monday both Houses passed over the President's veto a measure which he said would bar 750,000 persons from social security coverage.

large buildings, and the appearance of Americans freeing the Philippines from the Japanese army was an occasion long to be remembered."

He added that one day a short time before the liberation a friend of his had seen 22 Japanese planes shot down by the Americans.

Actual liberation sent the Filipinos and other civilians in and around Manila and throughout the Philippines into throes of exultation. It was a tremendous experience, he exclaimed.

Colonel Lindvall, who has been in the U. S. since June, 1947, will return to Sweden in August. The couple will leave Escanaba Monday for Chicago. While here, they have conferred with Lt. Wesley Anderson, Salvation Army officer in charge in Escanaba since last March.

CITY ELECTRIC SERVICE IS CUT

Power Off For About 13 Minutes This Morning

Power service in Escanaba was out for about 13 minutes this morning after a truck backed into a guy wire and broke off two power lines poles and two transformers near the Peterson Cement Block plant on No. 23rd street. The mishap occurred at 8:45 a. m.

The pole supporting two transformers broke after being pulled off balance when the truck hit the guy wire. As the heavy pole fell, it also broke another pole a span away and the lines were considerably twisted.

Switch equipment at the No. 19th and Seventh avenue sub-station is designed to isolate the power failure to the affected area but this equipment failed, with the result that service was disrupted throughout the city.

This equipment is scheduled for replacement as soon as material now on order is received, Hugo Lilaquist, superintendent of the electrical department, said this morning.

Scrub Fluid Short Fatal To Father; Girl Asks $75,000

Los Angeles, June 16 (P)—A nine-year-old girl asks $75,000 in a damage suit based on a contention that her father died after drinking cleaning fluid when he thought he was drinking whisky.

The suit, filed yesterday in behalf of Elizabeth Jane Cox, is against RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc., and George N. Gabe, a property man.

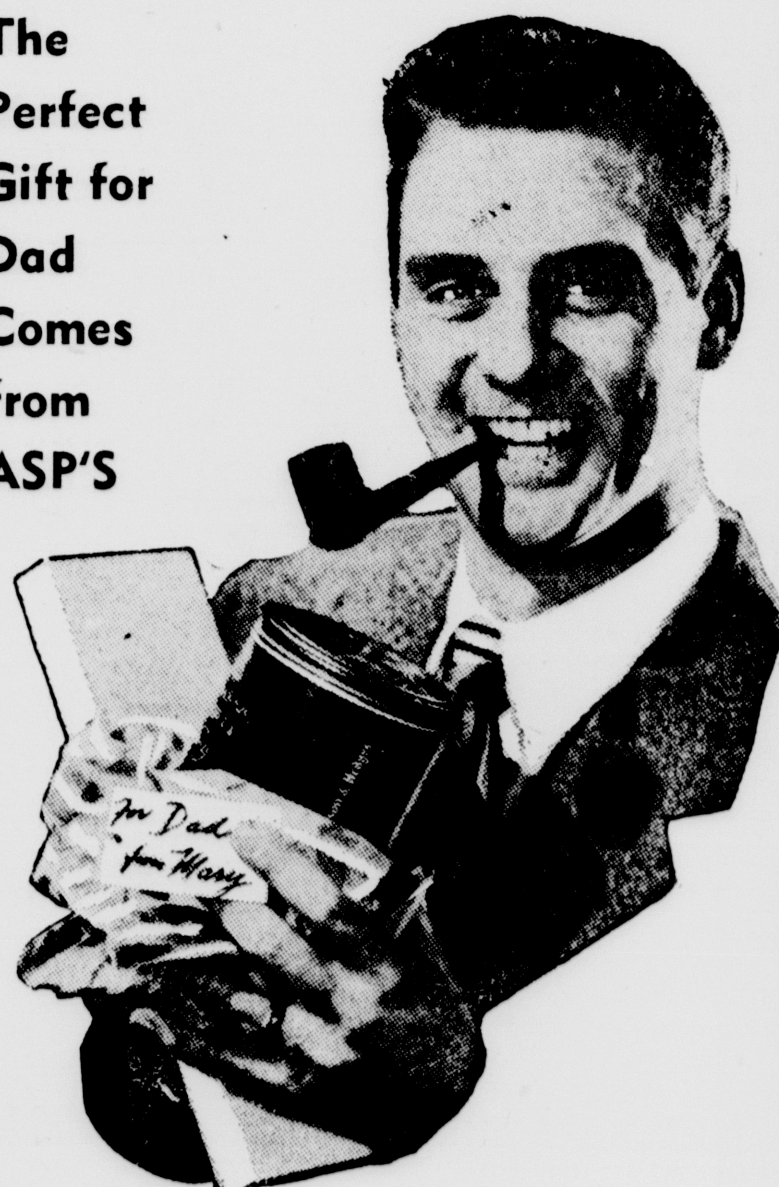

It said that on June 23, 1947, Edward L. Cox, 45, studio illustrating engineer, came across a whisky bottle in an unlocked closet and drank some of the contents, only to be informed a few minutes later that he had drunk cleaning fluid. He died five days later.

The complaint alleged that the bottle, left unguarded in the closet, constituted an "open invitation" to anyone to drink from it.

Dean and President Quit At Kalamazoo

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 16 (P)—President Paul Lamont Thompson and Dean of Men Leishman A. Hancock resigned today in a sudden shakeup at Kalamazoo college.

At the same time Dr. Burdena Donaldson, dean of women, was given a year's sabbatical leave.

No official explanation was forthcoming. The two resignations, however, came against a background of reports of differences within the college administration.

Two weeks ago Dr. Thompson was granted a year's leave at his request.

Youngsters in Ohio Bootleg Fireworks

Columbus, O., June 16 (P)—Precocious Ohio youngsters are engaged in widespread bootlegging of fireworks; the state industrial relations director said today.

Director W. J. Rogers said this is the way it works:

Small boys, without their parents' knowledge, have been getting high-powered fire crackers and other fireworks through advertisements in children's magazines.

They get shipments of the fireworks banned by Ohio law for sale at retail—by railway express from outside the state.

RANDALL HEADS ROTARY CLUB

Charles Benzinger Is Uthrotar Governor

Larry D. Randall, publisher of the Norway Current, assumed the position of governor of the 143rd district of Rotary International at the Rotary district conference which closed Monday at Marquette, and an Escanaba youth, Charles Benzinger, was elected district Uthrotar governor.

The 143rd Rotary district includes the western half of the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin.

Randall succeeds Walter Toebly of Merrill, Wis., as district governor. He is a member of the Rotary club of Iron Mountain and is now serving as president of that club. He is also a library director and past president and director of the Iron Mountain Chamber of Commerce.

The Uthrotar annual district conference business meeting elected Benzinger as president; Robert Novak of Wakefield as lieutenant governor; Norman Thomas of Marquette as secretary; and Larry Eggers of Merrill, treasurer.

About 70 Uthrotars attended the meeting. Outgoing officers of Uthrotar include James Moran of Escanaba, secretary.

RECEIVE BIDS FOR ROAD JOBS

Forest Highway Included
Among U. P. Projects

The state highway department at its branch office in Escanaba today received bids for three highway improvement projects in the Upper Peninsula. The bids will be sent to Lansing for final determination and the awarding of contracts. The projects, bidders and bids are as follows:

Alger county—Oil aggregate surfacing of slightly more than 10 miles of Federal Forest highway No. 13 from Wetmore south. The new surface will be 18 feet wide and the completion date of the project is Sept. 1, 1948. When completed the federal forest highway will be hard-surface from Nahma Junction north to M-28.

Thornton Construction company of Hancock was low with a bid of $139,581.71. Other bidders were Payne & Dolan, Milwaukee, $145,903.64.

Ontonagon county—6.418 miles of grade widening on US-45 from Northwest to Rockland, and 1.568 miles of grade widening on US-45 south and east of Rockland. The work is preparatory to applying blacktop.

Paul C. Miller, Comstock Park, Mich., $175,677.05 was low bidder. One other bid was by Fox Valley Construction company, Appleton, $179,105.05.

Ontonagon county—Aggregate surfacing on 4.926 miles of US-45 from Bruce's Crossing south; 6.321 miles on M-26 to the Houghton-Ontonagon county line; and 13 miles of US-45 north and south of Rockland.

Mid-America Engineering Corporation, Skokie, Ill., was low with a bid of $150,150.27. Other bidders were Thornton Construction company, $152,253.46, and Payne & Dolan, $190,668.70.

A Reasonable Decision

THE SUPREME court in an unanimous opinion issued Monday threw out a veterans' life insurance claim that would have boosted the cost of GI insurance to the government by billions of dollars. The court acted with good common sense in its decision in a far-reaching case that has been in litigation for the past year and which has caused the Veterans Administration to withhold the distribution of insurance from surplus reserves.

The litigation developed because of careless wording of the national life insurance act which says that insurance benefits shall be paid: "... in equal monthly payments for 120 months certain, the remaining lifetime of such beneficiary."

The Veterans Administration has been offering alternative methods of collection of insurance benefits. Beneficiaries may receive larger benefits for 10 years guaranteed or they may receive smaller monthly payments based upon the life expectancy of the beneficiary. The size of the payments is based upon standard mortality table in accepted use for commercial insurance.

Since the entire national life insurance program was set up on standards in general use by private insurance companies, less administration costs which are borne by the government, it naturally follows that congress had meant that payments of benefits would also be based upon standard practices.

The present potential liability of the government on outstanding GI insurance policies is 35 billion dollars. If the interpretation pleaded by the claimant, Mrs. Tillie Zazove of Chicago, had been accepted by the supreme court, the government's liability would increase to nearly 100 billion dollars. All surplus reserves would have been wiped out and the government would have been required to constantly appropriate additional billions to meet the higher obligations.

It is unfortunate, of course, that the supreme court had to close its eyes to the exact wording of the law in order to reach a conclusion that was more obviously in accord with the intent of congress. The entire litigation could have been avoided if the drafters of the life insurance act had not been so careless in preparation of an act of this magnitude.

Draft Law Nears Reality

ALL BUT final assurance that congress will pass a draft law at the present session was indicated Monday when the house rules committee voted 6 to 4 to send the bill to the floor this week. Previously the rules committee had been sitting on a draft bill, refusing to report it out. Senate passage of draft legislation, however, provided the pressure that forced the house committee to act favorably on the draft bill.

Passage in the house is regarded as a foregone conclusion, probably with greater speed than the debate displayed on similar legislation. Debate in the house on the draft proposal will be limited to three hours.

Draft preparations have been developing for months and it has been estimated that the first selectees under the draft bill be moving to induction centers within 60 to 90 days. Approximately 200,000 unmarried non-veterans would be drafted within the first year.

Most of the most complicated problems that beset draft boards during the war will be eliminated in this new procedure. Men will be assigned order numbers up on the basis of their age groups. Since married men will be exempt, as well as most veterans, the rules for determining selectees will be clear cut. Fewer draft boards will be required, too, because there will be fewer registrants.

Unfortunately the country's military obligations have not been adequately fulfilled through the process of voluntary enlistments. The alternative is the draft law to guarantee that the country's military manpower will be fully provided in the next two years.

Favorite Sons Balk at Deals

THE DECISION of several favorite son candidates for the Republican presidential nomination to hold on to their delegates at the Republican convention for at least several ballots should provide further encouragement to the Michigan delegation and supporters of Arthur Vandenberg.

It indicates the absence of success by leading candidates in their endeavors to line up second and third ballot support from among the favorite sons with single state backing. Gov. Warren of California, for instance, has stated bluntly that he intends to hold on to California's 53 votes to see what happens after the first several ballots. Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, with 29 votes pledged to him, intends to do the same.

Senator Vandenberg will not poll heavily on the first ballot and may actually get only the votes of the Michigan delegates. His strength, however, will assert itself if there is no sudden swing in the first two or three ballots to one of the three leading candidates, Senator Taft, Governor Dewey or Stassen. The fact that the other favorite sons intend to "sit tight" is helpful to Vandenberg because it makes the prospects of a deadlock more probable. And it is as a compromise candidate that Vandenberg stands the best chance for selection as the Republican nominee.

Greater Productivity

SPEAKING BEFORE the conference of the American Management Association in New York recently, Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers, called for greater industrial productivity as a means of solving inflation problems and providing the goods needed for European recovery.

Luckman declared that production can be increased by a minimum of 10%, utilizing the labor and facilities already available. To do so, Luckman explained, capital and labor will have to work together in good faith.

"We know that we cannot expect a healthy economy by sweating labor and cutting wages. Labor must learn that it is equally impossible for them to expect a healthy economy by freezing output and raising wages. The theory of more pay for less work is just as stupid as the theory of less pay for more work. What both groups really face is a plan which will simultaneously produce more pay for more work."

This advice of Luckman is good logic, the objective for which would help to make a better world. That it was presented with sincerity is indicated by Mr. Luckman's offer, presented upon behalf of Lever Brothers, to underwrite the cost of a labor-management clinic for the first year to seek ways and means of creating greater productivity.

America has much to gain and nothing to lose by a program of this kind.

THE DANGEROUS FARM

(From the Muskegon Chronicle.)

City life is twice as safe as life on the farm.

The National Safety council reveals that the 1947 death rate for farm workers was 32 for 100,000 workers. Non agricultural industries the rate was only 26.

Highlights of the council's annual farm accident report were:

Total farm resident deaths were 19,500. Injuries totaled 1,800,000.

Farm home deaths totaled 7,000, with approximately 1,050,000 non-fatal injuries.

Motor vehicles killed 7,300 farm residents in 1947 and injured 250,000 others.

Fire destroyed farm property valued at $90,000,000 in 1947, one-sixth of the national fire loss.

The high farm casualty rate has given added significance to Farm Safety week proclaimed by President Truman for July 25-31.

Each member of a farm family is asked by the president to accept personal responsibility for elimination of at least one source of accidents during that week.

Cities have cut down their accidental death toll through improved safety measures.

Farmers must awaken to the fact that they, too, must make safety first an objective.

PET SPEECH PEEVE

The Rev. G. W. Crutcheff, Pinebluff, N. C., will receive an autographed Handbook for giving us his Pet Speech Peeve:

"I came across an unfamiliar word. I thumb through the dictionary, and what do I find? Two or three words that are bigger and more unfamiliar than the one I am trying to run down for meaning. Result, I am confused, frustrated, in greater darkness than before, and a little sore (even for a clergyman). So I start out on an irritating word hunt, thumbing and turning, chasing words, straining my eyes over microscopic print, ambiguous footnotes, and mystic reference symbols. At last, after wasting much time and exhausting my patience, I find something that hints at the meaning of the original word. Why must it be that way?"

Mr. Crutcheff's plaint has been voiced by many people. The Saturday Evening Post, not long ago, made dictionary obscurities the subject of a strong editorial which ended with the melancholy cry, "Is there a lexicographer in the house?"

Here's a good example of the dictionary's daffy definitions. Turn to page 123 of "The Supreme Authority." Look up the adjective aphetic, which is defined as, "Pertaining to, or resulting from, aphesis, or by extension, from aphesis." Very comforting information, that. But the word aphesis isn't listed, although alphabetically it should come right before aphesis!

But, wait a minute—there are a number of words listed in small type at the bottom of the page, and among them is aphesis defined thus: "Var. of aphareisis."

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Five months before the Republicans met for their convention in 1920 a political prophecy came from one of the party's shrewd political fixers. He said:

"We are not bothering about primaries and delegations. At two in the morning before the nomination, half a dozen men will meet in a room, to over the candidates who have been eliminated, and then and there Senator Harding will be nominated."

It happened in just that way in a smoke-filled room in Chicago's Blackstone Hotel, and that has become the prototype of all smoke-filled hotel rooms. The prophet was Harry M. Daugherty, who was to become attorney general in the cabinet of Warren G. Harding and go down to disgrace with the spoilsman and corruptionists of that tragic era.

Parallels Are Obvious

The parallels between 1920 and 1948 are too striking to be ignored. Then, too, the nation was weary in the wake of a great war. Then, too, prices were soaring and the average American had little time for politics as he struggled to pay the rent and the grocery bill.

In 1920, as in 1948, the GOP had able men who had campaigned intensively for the presidency. These men had impressed their views and their personalities on the public. The three leading contenders in that other June were General Leonard Wood, Gov. Frank O. Lowden and Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

These three contestants were deadlocked on the first ballot. The vote was Wood 287½, Lowden 211½ and Johnson 133½. The deadlock went on for three days until half a dozen men met to agree on Harding. The compact was signed and sealed shortly after midnight and the following morning Harding was nominated.

This time, at Philadelphia, the leading contenders are Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Senator Robert A. Taft and Harold Stassen. On the first ballot Dewey's strength is estimated at 300 to 325, Taft's at 250 to 275, and Stassen's at 150 to 175.

VANDERBERG AS COMPROMISE
Thus the same kind of deadlock will develop as developed 28 years ago. In Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg the party has a compromise candidate of stature and great national prestige.

But also within the party are powerful forces seeking to install in the White House another Harding. There was nothing wicked or sinister about the bland, pleasure-loving senator from Ohio. He was merely a willing party hack, ready to be pushed around by stronger men who knew what they wanted out of the federal government. He had little understanding of his country or its place in the world. In the Republican stable today are dark horses on the Harding model.

The atmosphere of 1920, as described by Karl Schlegel in his just published "This Was Normalcy," was one of grab-while-the-grabbing-is-good. At the Chicago convention in 1920 a swarm of furore-seekers, many of them representing great wealth, pressed down on the delegates.

Something like that atmosphere has oppressed the Republican congress as greedy lobbyists push for the benefits they seem to feel are certain to come from the GOP. And at times Republican officialdom encourages that attitude.

In the current issue of the Republican News, official paper of the Republican national committee, is a remarkable appeal captioned: "Don't Throw Peanuts to the Elephant." It gives a table showing tax savings under the tax cut put through the GOP Congress, with the taxpayer who earns $2500 saving $78.40, and the taxpayer who earns $50,000 saving $7533. The appeal says:

"Take a look at the table below. Many of our friends feel that, entirely apart from other important considerations, the least they can do to express their appreciation is to contribute a substantial part of their tax savings for this year to insure the re-election of the Congress which made this possible."

In the same issue, the chairman of the GOP finance committee says: "The stakes are too high to take any chance on not winning."

The stakes are certainly too high to take a chance on another Harding. Harding led the nation back to isolationism and the shortsighted policies of the men around him prepared the way for boom and bust. The evil consequences came in a terrible depression and a more terrible war.

Succeeding columns will be devoted to an appraisal of the men and the issues at Philadelphia. The choice to be made there may well be as momentous as that which was made in the same city in 1787.

Now, if you do not know what "Var." stands for you might as well call the whole thing off, which you do.

All you wanted was the meaning of aphetic. You have learned that aphetic pertains to aphesis; that aphesis is a form of aphareisis; and that aphareisis is "Var. of aphareisis."

But don't feel bad about it. Many a person has lived a good and useful life without knowing what aphetic means. But, if you insist on knowing, drop me a line, and I'll explain the word for you in plain American.

Do you find difficulty in using the pronouns that, which and who? Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-8, gives four simple rules to help you.

To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to him, in care of Escanaba Daily Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

FLYING HIGH — Interest in aviation as a means of travel, rather than a hobby, is gaining ground in the Upper Peninsula, long a land of isolation from the rest of Michigan.

Airports and landing fields are being enlarged. Commercial airlines are jacking keener interest in serving the Upper Peninsula as it becomes proven that its people are ready for the "air age."

The service is still in a state of indecision and some lines may withdraw and others come in. Generally, however, it is a healthy indication of competition and brings the hope of better service in the future.

The Escanaba airport is to be improved in a $60,000 project this summer. The first regularly scheduled meeting of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission was held in Escanaba the other day, although an airport booster program (including a fishery) was held in 1944 at Menominee with some of the commissioners attending. Menominee today has one of the best airports in the Upper Peninsula. Escanaba's port is still adequate, however, and Prince Bertil of Sweden was scheduled to arrive at Escanaba in a DC-3. For a time it appeared the DC-3 would land at Menominee and the prince and his entourage would arrive in Escanaba by prosaic auto. Then someone "discovered" that Nationwide was landing and taking off with a DC-3 at Escanaba almost every day, indicating that the runways would be adequate for other 21-passenger planes.

LOOKING DOWN—Men and women who pilot airplanes have a natural and understandable feeling of superiority. They are superior. They have broken gravity's chains and can direct a machine that takes them into what is still occasionally referred to as "The Air Age."

"He likes to fly above the rain clouds and feel sorry for the people who are getting wet," said a friend of David Lithgow.

Lithgow is a former Escanaban and is now employed in the engineering department of the Chicago & Northwestern's general office in Chicago. His wife is the former Mary Cuthbert, Escanaba. Lithgow did not learn to fly until he was in the U. S. Air Force in the last world war. Now he pilots his plane both below and above the clouds, and he gets a thrill out of flying high and watching the rain clouds spill water on his earthbound fellows.

EVERYWHERE — A second "flying son-in-law" of Dr. C. M. Cuthbert of Escanaba is Major William Francis "Pat" Patterson of Washington, D. C., who married the former Conner Cuthbert, daughter of the venerable doctor.

Major Patterson is a veteran of World War I, and he is director of apprentice-training service for the U. S. Department of Labor. He does not pilot a plane himself, but prefers air travel even when there is a choice in the matter. His air trips include jaunts to Europe and about the United States in connection with his work for the government. His wife takes her husband's air trips for granted, although she was impressed one evening to meet on the golf course the man who had been the

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—O. V. Thatcher, commodore of the Escanaba Yacht club, has left for Milwaukee and Chicago to confer with officials about the Chicago to Escanaba power squadron cruise in July. Mr. Thatcher will also appear on several radio programs to describe the harbor.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mattson are the parents of a daughter born June 15 at St. Francis hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Miss Gertrude Rockberg left today for Milwaukee where she will attend the Milwaukee Conservatory of Music.

Escanaba—Miss Marie Scheriff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Scheriff of this city, received her bachelor's degree from St. Mary college in Prairie du Chien, Wis., at exercises held June 11.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gagnon are the parents of a son born June 1. The baby has been named Francis Joseph. Manistigue—William Dehut, a candidate for the office of sheriff in 1926, announces his bid for candidacy again.

SAVING TIME—If you are in the mood for statistics, we can tell you how much time you will save by abandoning your car and taking to the air. We have arrived at the approximate flying-time after telephoning the Escanaba airport and talking with Mrs. Fred Sensiba, who in turn consulted Nationwide Airlines flight schedule. She gave us the arrival and departure times of the planes and the rest is largely our own computation.

Escanaba to Menominee, 30 minutes; Escanaba to Houghton, 55 minutes; Escanaba to Detroit, two and one-half hours.

These times are approximate. For example, the plane from Detroit has arrived in Escanaba in two hours flying time. They were probably helped by favorable wind conditions. Incidentally this time includes stops at Lansing and Menominee enroute from Detroit to Escanaba.

The travel time by auto between Escanaba and Detroit can vary from a minimum of about nine hours to a maximum of nine days, depending on the route you take and how many times you stop for ice cream cones. It also depends on whether you have to wait for a ferry at the Straits of Mackinac.

OR KILLING IT—Many people who fly are not trying to "save time" in the sense of getting quickly from one place to another. They like to fly and enjoy the hours in the air, whether it is spent flying in a straight line or in circles.

Aviation has found a firm place in the lives of Upper Peninsula people, whether they realize it or not. Even though they do not fly and never expect to, commercial air transportation now is paving the way for expanded air mail and express service in the future.

The isolation that once plagued the U. P. and caused men to talk of establishing a separate state is rapidly ending. The airplane and air travel will figure largely in the growth and development of Northern Michigan.

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (P)—Ever been around the world in a single daze?

That's the way I travel when my pocketbook is already too pleasure-bent to support a journey. I buy a hypothetical hop to anything I choose and enjoy it at home.

It's the only way I know that two can travel as cheaply as one. I go first cabin, take Frances along and scatter $5 tips like grass seed.

I don't have to look at museums I never wanted to see. I don't have to admire the dilapidated grandeur of local ruins pointed out by a guide whose dogged good nature doesn't hide the fact he's tired of them, too.

Like Stephen Leacock's hero, I can jump on my horse and ride off in all directions—at once. How?

I have an old game I've been playing, Walter Mitty style, since I was knee-high to a Rand-McNally. It's called "supposing." It begins with, "supposing somebody gave you $10,000 and said you could travel anywhere in the world. Where'd you go?"

You get out the atlas and the battered school geography—the big one you used to hide your Frank Merriwell book inside during class. Then you figure out where your money will buy the most adventure—and you scoot off on your jet-propelled imagination.

Over the years I've changed my mind often about where I'd like to spend the $10,000 donated by the mysterious stranger. As a child I was fascinated with pictures of strange, faroff places. I suppose my first choice, now as then, would be to spend three months taking the pulse of the heart of darkest Africa. But I also suppose they throb the voodoo music now on a drum mail-ordered from darkest London.

During the war I was in 51 countries. Many were lands I had yearned to see in boyhood, but they drew me no more, particularly the large, sick, civilized places. Too many of them have "American Bars" and specialize in "Yankee malted milks," innocent of ice cream, and offbeat jazz bands, guilty of musical murder.

But omitting the out-of-the-way places like the Brazilian jungle and the Isle of Ball, where the slim brown girls walk with water jugs on their heads, graceful as panthers, I'd most like to see three countries I missed—New Zealand, Finland and Ireland.

New Zealand was the only country I didn't get to visit in the Far East. I'd like to go there because other travelers have told me it is the most civilized country in the world and people live longer there than anywhere else.

I'd like to find out why. Why Ireland? Not so much because it's green and beautiful, but because every American in his heart wants to go back and see where his ancestors came from. I want to check up on whether the English really ran my grandfather out—as he said—or whether his neighbors did.

As for Finland, no one I've known, who has been there has anything but admiration for the honesty and courage of its people. I want to have a look at this small tough land whose independence even the Russians have come to respect.

There goes my mythical $10,000—and it'll give me a ten grand time. Where would you spend yours—in a wonderful one-daze journey?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—If the members of the U. S. Senate had their choice in selecting a Republican candidate for president, most of them would vote for Robert Alphonse Taft.

This is because they like him, consider him a square shooter, a man who always keeps his word. And this goes for a lot of Democrats too. Even when they disagree with Taft, they pay tribute to his honesty and courage.

This, in a body where men live cheek-and-jowl, know each other's faults and failures, is no mean compliment.

It is also said in the Senate, even by those who like him, that: "Bob Taft is always right the second time."

In 1943, for instance, Taft led the fight against the Roosevelt Aid-To-Education bill, and defeated it. This year he is leading the fight for it. In explanation he frankly states: "I had to give the problem a lot of study and saw there was a real need."

But it took five long years for Taft to wake up to that need—five years during which schoolhouses bulged, new war babies grew up, and the literacy rate in the U. S. A. dropped to a level comparable with Russia's.

Two years ago, also, Taft was leery of veterans housing. Now he has led the fight for long-range housing, including help for veterans housing. Two summers ago he was blasting the OPA and on July 1, 1946 flatly predicted: "The president's figures on possible price increases are a wild guess and for the most part dead wrong."

Prices, of course, have been going up ever since. And today, June 16, 1948, prices are much nearer the figure set up by Harry Truman than by Bob Taft.

In January, 1947, Harry Truman sent to Congress an economic recommendation for the nation, which didn't go down with the Republican Senate at all. But in September of the same year, Bob Taft, speaking before the Commonwealth club of San Francisco, outlined the same general program.

Once again Bob Taft was right the second time.

—TAFT APPRAISES SELF—
It is doubtful if Taft had his own changing social and economic views in mind, when, back in 1939, he remarked to a friend:

"They say I've improved since I've come to the Senate, but I'm just the same as I ever was."

However, it is a fact that Taft has improved. He is still just as brusque, just as frank, just as inclined to step on people's toes—though with such open-faced honesty that you have to admire it. But Taft has changed when it comes to policies—and changed radically. He has become more liberal.

For a man of Taft's background this is a revolutionary change. For you have to remember that he springs from a family that put one grandfather in the Grant cabinet as secretary of war, sent another grandfather as ambassador to Russia, elected one President of the United States; and that the Taft family, owners of utility stocks, real estate and a prosperous Cincinnati newspaper, is one of the wealthiest in Ohio.

The tax laws that Taft sponsored while an Ohio state senator, for instance, in no way hurt the family fortunes. Nor have the tax revisions voted by the Republicans at this session of Congress been much different. However, those who watch Taft daily detect a steady shift away from the rank reactionism of House Republicans who would dump everything in the lap of big business, and predict that, one year hence, Taft will be proposing just as heavy high-bracket taxes as Harry Truman.

Once again, they say, Bob Taft will be right the second time.

In the difficult days, however, a president of the United States has to be right most of the time, the first time up to bat.

Especially he has to be right on foreign policy. And, although some isolationists still consider Taft right, the majority of the nation and Congress has voted him wrong on the most vital foreign problems facing the nation.

Before Pearl Harbor, for instance, Taft opposed every single major defense issue. If Congress had followed his leadership we would have been so miserably prepared that the axis could hardly have been defeated.

Since the war, Taft has also been opposed to most of Vandenberg's foreign-affairs leadership. He was strong for curtailing the Marshall Plan—if passed at all. And even after the Russians moved into Czechoslovakia, the Republican leader of the Senate claimed that Truman was merely using the Russian bogey to stir up a war scare.

Anyone who looks up the written record can see that this was pretty much what the Senator was saying a few months before Pearl Harbor. "The situation," Taft told the nation in August, 1941, "looks infinitely safer."

All of which raises the question as to whether the American people, faced with urgent, unpostponable problems at home and abroad, can wait a year or two for the man in the White House to change his mind. This is something G. O. P. delegates to the Philadelphia convention will want to consider most carefully. If they don't, then the people who do the final selecting next November will be faced with the difficult problem of choosing between the president incumbent who makes snap decisions—sometimes wrong—and a man who waits a couple of years to be right—the second time.

A Prince And A Parade Greeted By Thousands

"I'm Half Swede And Proud of It," Says Bike Slogan

BY AMY BOLGER

Sunny skies, airplanes overhead, martial music, flags of two countries, Sweden and the United States, waving in the stiff breeze off Bay de Nocquet, and a prince and a parade gave thousands of townspeople and visitors from all parts of the peninsula one of the most enjoyable events the Upper Peninsula Swedish Pioneer centennial celebration in Escanaba yesterday afternoon.

The colorful parade in which the friendly Prince Bertil of Sweden rode in an open car, waving and smiling in answer to the salutes of the crowds lining both sides of Ludington street, formed at the Junior high school shortly after 2 o'clock and the line of march continued to Ludington Park.

The marching units, headed by the American Legion color bearers in dress uniform including the Escanaba City Band, led by baton twirling majorettes, the Legion Girls' smartly stepping Drum and Bugle Corps, the Manistique high school band and the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls in uniform.

C. & N. W. Pioneer Train The Chicago & North Western's pioneer train, brought to Escanaba for the Centennial, with its cow-catcher and clanging bell, followed by a replica of the "400" competed for honors with the colorful floats arranged for the centennial by Escanaba business houses and upper peninsula communities and organizations.

Particularly in keeping with the pioneer occasion were the two floats from Alger county, one depicting a Swedish home scene with a group in costume around the spinning wheel, singing folk songs and the other a pioneer logging scene of 1886. The Menominee entry also was a typical Swedish folk group, with two concertina players providing the gay music.

Unusually attractive was the Fair Store float, the colors of Sweden gleaming in the sunlight, and the float of the Escanaba banks, its colorful decorations the setting for two figures, a boy, representing Uncle Sam, and a girl in Swedish costume, who stood clasping hands. Another beautiful float was the 4-H club entry in green and white.

"Proud of It!" The Delta county National Guard heavy equipment units and hundreds of private cars closed the parade.

Providing a colorful addition to the regular parade units were bicycles, their young riders representing among others Uncle Sam, a lady of the gay 90's, a little Swedish girl in costume, clowns and airplane pilots.

All in all it was a fine parade, and the sentiment of participants and spectators alike was expressed in the sign one little fellow had on his bicycle as he rode proudly along—"I'm half Swede and proud of it!"

Mrs. L. W. Anderson Of Wausau Tells Of Flat Rock Lore

Mrs. Lydia Wicking Anderson, of Wausau, Wis., a daughter of the late Andrew Wicking, an early Swedish settler at the water power saw mill on the Escanaba river, in a recent letter to the Daily Press adds the following to the story of the Flat Rock community.

"Two men who were childhood friends in Varmland, Sweden, became important figures at the number one water power saw mill on the Escanaba River at Flat Rock. They were Andrew Wicking and Charles Wickman."

"Both men had had business training in Sweden and had also had military training in their homeland. Often they spoke of the University campus at Uppsala and of their military training."

"Another who came over from Sweden was Nels Gustafson, who came here at the age of 17, as he was not eager to be subject to the compulsory military training program. He is at present living in California."

"Andrew Wicking was foreman in the mill, and I recall his being able to fill any vacancy at the mill. He filed saws and later learned to in English literature and are open to all juniors and seniors.

hammer mill saws. Sometimes he would get emery in his eyes and had medical treatment for it from Dr. Long."

"And of course, many remember the fine-spirited, good-looking horse we kept. A beautiful creature!"

"I often accompanied my father in the dynamo room, where electricity was generated for the Isaac Stephenson mill, store, office and hotel. The dynamo room was one of his charge. My father, as I remember, was justice of the peace, constable, Wells township clerk and a member of the board of education."

"I remember one bloody fight on a Saturday afternoon between an American and a Spaniard, who lived at the boarding house. My father stopped the fight."

"Miss Kathryn McLean Johnson, who taught in the Flat Rock school for many years, was both a lovable friend and teacher."

"My father inspected all timber for the company and also contracted for all timber until the time of his illness. When operations were discontinued at the old water power mill, nothing was said to my father about moving to the steam plant at Wells. My father was sought by several companies to buy timber for them. I know all this as I helped him with his letter writing."

"After two months, my father received an S. O. S. from the Isaac Stephenson company, saying—'Come into the office, you're breaking us. We can't get any more timber.'"

Mr. Wicking then returned with the Stephenson company and contracted for all their timber.

"On his last trip, a man from Wisconsin met him at Powers, where he had arrived after walking 25 miles to catch the train. He had perspired and his clothing had frozen to his body. This happened in the winter of 1917."

Andrew Wicking was also a Methodist preacher in Escanaba and possessed musical talent. He taught his daughter, Lydia, piano, at the age of 7. Later Lydia took lessons from the late Mrs. Galzer.

In closing Mrs. Lydia Wicking Anderson said, "My father was a Swede who became a sincere American and 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' was his favorite hymn."

Draft Action To Spur Enlistments In Guard

With the possibility of House passage of a selective service act this week, men of draft age are expected to join the National Guard in increasing numbers to take advantage of the home training such service affords.

Under terms of legislation now under discussion, men of draft age, 19 to 25, would be exempt from military draft if they are members of the National Guard, but they must have joined before the draft bill becomes law. Although the Upper Peninsula

National Guard battalion is the largest in the state, its present enlistment strength is only about 60 per cent of its total authorized membership. The Delta county unit is only slightly higher, having a membership of 89 against an authorized strength of 129, or 69 per cent.

Every effort is being made to bring the Delta unit to full strength before it leaves for two weeks of field training at Camp Grayling at Lake Margrethe in Lower Michigan on August 7.

Men may join at the state fairgrounds armory between 7:30 and 9:30 tonight, and physical examinations may be taken any time this week.

Current rapid expansion of the Guard will require major improvements to Camp Grayling, regarded as one of the most beautiful and best arranged Guard training areas in the nation, it was reported yesterday.

Improvements already underway include construction of new small arms firing ranges, new concrete tent floors and a new warehouse. Major plans for expanding the camp to accommodate a full division are being prepared by the Quartermaster General's office under the supervision of Col. George B. Ely, veteran National Guard officer from Olivet, Mich.

Phone Building At Bark River Well Under Way

Bark River—Work on the $3,800 addition to the telephone building here is well under way and will be completed by the middle of July, George A. Marcouiller, manager of this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, announced today.

Installation of new dial switching equipment with a greater capacity than that now in operation will be installed beginning late in August. Scheduled to be cut into service in October at a cost of nearly $22,000, the equipment will have a capacity to serve 300 new subscribers.

About 20 of the 41 orders now on file for telephone service will be cleared as a result of three large installations of telephone cable and wire. Cost of the projects and approximate dates for their completion are $1,000 by Aug. 15, over $1,500 by Oct. 1, and nearly $4,000 by Dec. 15.

Marcouiller said some 21 orders for service will be filled as individual job orders can be completed at a cost of almost $6,000.

Pointing to the growth of the telephone in Bark River, the manager said there were only 59 telephones in operation here in 1940. A year ago, the number climbed to 86, and this year an all-time high of 112 has been reached.

Telephone calls, both local and long-distance, have been on the rise, too, with 436 recorded on an average business day in 1940, over 700 in 1946, and nearly 1,090 this year.

Menominee Scene Of Big Air Show Sunday, July 4

Menominee, June 16—The first annual Menominee-Marquette and Upper Peninsula air show will be held at the Menominee county airport Sunday, July 4 under the sponsorship of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Top notch flying talent is being brought to Menominee for the event. Heading the list of dare-devils who will perform is Capt. Johnny Vasey, recognized as the greatest stunt flyer in the world. Vasey flies a Stearman bi-plane powered by a 450-horsepower motor.

Another is Maj. Art Davis, veteran flyer of both wars and an intimate of such famed flyers as Jimmy Doolittle, Eddie Rickenbacker and Tex Rankin. Steve Wittman, of Oshkosh, Wis., winner of scores of air races, will fly his P-63 "King Cobra" in the show in a series of combat maneuvers. His P-63 is powered by an 1,850 horsepower motor.

Carl Rupert, world's low altitude jumping record holder, will perform, as will Lt. Bill Fisher, who will fly his tiny Rose-Parakeet, the smallest ship ever used in stunting. It has a wing span of only 15 feet and weighs less than 500 pounds. His act has been a hit at many recent air shows.

Army jet fighters from Selfridge field will perform also.

Standard Oil dealers attend school in 74 cities to give your car better service

Don't waste your gas SAVE THIS EASY WAY:

Drive at moderate speeds—high speed driving means heavy, wasteful gas consumption. Avoid "jack rabbit" starts and sudden stops at traffic lights—shift into high as soon as possible—don't idle your engine unnecessarily. See your Standard Oil Dealer—his training can help you save gas in still other ways. Standard Oil Company.

It's not easy for a business man to take the time to go back to school. But that's just what Standard Oil Dealers are doing. They're eagerly acquiring advanced training in 80 schools operated by Standard Oil in 74 midwestern cities. The course features "Personalized Service"—how to give you the personal service you enjoy and your car the individual attention it needs. Thousands of dealers have already completed the course and 250 more enroll every two weeks.

When your Standard Oil Dealer takes this training, you know he's anxious to please you—with his promptness and courtesy, with his thoroughness and skill. When you see our Service Specialist award displayed in his station, you know he has completed his course with "flying colors."

Advice on Food Preservation In Extension Bulletin

The delicious fruits and vegetables now coming on the market are a cue to start planning for next year's family food supply. High on the list of ways to preserve these foods is the frozen food locker.

Whether to buy a frozen food unit for the home or use the facilities of the local locker is a question to decide now. Some very practical help in making this decision is available at no cost to Michigan families from Michigan State college.

Their recent publication, "Planning for Frozen Foods," contains 38 pages of illustrated down-to-earth facts that everyone needs to know before buying or renting lockers. One glance at the carefully prepared charts in the bulletin will tell the amounts of various foods that it is practical to freeze according to the size of the family. Varieties best for freezing and basic information for their preparation is included.

What to expect from each of the types of home units and from the commercial locker plants is discussed in detail. Costs are compared and the question of location of lockers either in the home or community is discussed.

Space Required
Michigan State College home economists say you will find help in this bulletin about the amount of frozen food space you need for your family. That would determine the size of unit you would want if buying a home unit seemed practical for your family situation.

To obtain a copy of "Planning for Frozen Foods," write to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, or get one from your county extension office. Ask for Michigan State College Circular Bulletin 193.

Miss Audrey V. Lyth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin M. Lyth of Dobbs Ferry, New York, was united in marriage Saturday, June 12, to Robert B. Haring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Haring of Bark River. The double ring ceremony, which took place at 3:00 p. m., was performed in the Calvary Baptist church by Pastor Herman Van Ansdale of the Holy Baptist church of Aiken, Minnesota, assisted by Rev. Merritt Kline of the Calvary Baptist church.

The bride wore a dress of white lace with a full length veil held in place by clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, chrysanthemums, and lily of the valley.

Miss Janet E. Lyth, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of yellow taffeta with a matching headpiece. Miss Elaine Christiansen, a friend of the bride and Mrs. Burt Haring, sister-in-law of the groom, acted as bridesmaids. Their gowns were light blue taffeta with matching headpieces. The three attendants carried colonial bouquets.

Mrs. Lyth chose a light blue gown with navy blue accessories and wore a corsage of red roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Haring, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and also wore a corsage of red roses.

Best man was Burt Haring, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Kenyon Haring, another brother of the groom, and Kenneth Christopherson, a college friend of the groom. Dennis Haring, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Miss Ruth Ekstrom was organist for the ceremony and Rev. Merritt Kline, as soloist, sang "Because," "A Day of Golden Promise," and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Reception at Church
Peonies and white candles decorated the front of the church. A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors of the Calvary Baptist church. The bridal table was decorated in yellow and white and centered with a three tiered wedding cake.

The couple left on a wedding trip and will tour throughout the upper peninsula including the Copper Country. On returning they will make their home at Bark River for the summer. Both plan to attend Bethel College in St. Paul, Minn. in the fall. Mr. Haring to enter the seminary in preparation for the ministry.

Theft of Motor

Joe St. John of Garden and Norman St. John, of Manistique, were convicted of petit larceny in justice court here Monday afternoon, the specific charge being the theft of a motor belonging to the Manistique Pulp and Paper company.

The prosecution, through the testimony of numerous witnesses brought out that the motor had been found on the Joe St. John premises in Garden by state police, who had originally called at the place to investigate an alleged game violation. Trooper Otto Bue-low, in searching the place, came upon this motor, whose serial number was the same as the one on a motor that had disappeared from the paper mill. Testimony also showed that Norman was an employee of the paper mill about the time the motor was stolen, that he had a long record of law violation convictions and that the elder St. John had sought to have the motor fixed so that he could use it in his mill.

Joe St. John was the only witness called for the defense. He stated that he did not know how the motor got to his place, claiming that many people in his neighborhood leave machinery at his place to be traded for or to be sold.

The jury rendered its verdict after a short deliberation, and each of the defendants were ordered to pay a fine of $75 along with court costs.

Representing the People was William J. Sheahan, county prosecutor, Merrill Johnson was attorney for the defense.

On the jury were: E. O. Brault, John Anderson, Russell Pauquette, Marvin Mercer, John Vaughan and A. B. Waters.

Aagin A Headache
For City Council

Among the matters taken up at the council meeting Monday evening were the authorization of an appropriation of $600 to the Blueberry Festival committee to aid in the furtherance of that project. The appropriation was authorized with the provision that the fund will be available if the committee sees fit to go through with the celebration. Frank Gierke presented the request for the committee.

John and Peter Gorsche notified the council that they had purchased the City Rapid Transit company from Clem Laurion and that they wished to have the franchise held by Laurion transferred to them. The council voted to give them a temporary permit to operate the bus line until all details of the transfer are taken care of.

Milk dealers licenses were granted Henry Miller, Charles Watson and the Hoholik Dairy.

Mrs. Clinton Welch, Chippewa avenue, appeared before the council to renew her campaign for elimination of, as she put it, "not the smoke nuisance, but the cinder nuisance." She was told that the council could take no action that evening as there was much other business pressing at the time. Mrs. Welch retorted that she had heard that before. Just before leaving the room, she pointed her finger at Councilman Otto Schubring and said: "And you! I'm disappointed in you. You made a lot of nice promises before election, but you haven't kept any of them."

Carl Makel Is
New Grand Knight
Of Local K of C

Carl Makel was elected Grand Knight of the Manistique Council of the Knights of Columbus at the election meeting held at the K-C hall Monday evening.

Also elected at that time were Raoul Bertrand, deputy grand knight; Wm. McGlynn, chancellor; Tom Smith, Jr., warden; George Wood, advocate; John Fackety, recording secretary; Ferdinand Gorsche, financial secretary; Ray Besner, treasurer; Matt Kasun, trustee; Rev. Fr. Schevers, chaplain; Leonard Mulhaupt, inner guard; Delor Weber, outer guard.

CITY BUS LINE
HAS BEEN SOLDGorsche Brothers Are Now the Owners

Clem Laurion, who for nearly three years has conducted the City Rapid Transit company, in Manistique, has sold the business to John and Peter Gorsche, of 249 North Maple street and the business is now being conducted by the new owner under a transfer permit granted by the city council at its last regular meeting.

Mr. Laurion in retiring from the business, states that he found the business profitable and believes that it will be a permanent institution in the city. The change was made so that he can further his education. He intends to enter college next fall.

SERVICE CLUBS
HEAR HIRDMANContact With U. S. Aids
Sweden Greatly

A great advancement has been made in recent years by the United States because it is the "richest, most vital nation in the world" and because of improvement in technical and scientific skills, said Gunnar Hirdman, national study director of the Workers Education association of Sweden, speaking here yesterday noon before a joint meeting of the Gladstone Lions and Rotary clubs.

He was accompanied here by Bertil Kugelberg, director of the Swedish Employers association. Both are members of Prince Bertil's official delegation which visited Delta county Tuesday in observance of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial.

Displaying a subtle humor and an excellent command of the English language, the speaker pointed out that the Swedish delegation visiting the United States was three-fold: Prince Bertil represented the royal family; a cabinet member represented the government and the commoners like he and Mr. Kugelberg represented the Swedish people.

He declared that while this nation and Sweden had changed for the better, that the major part of the European continent has become worse. A tour of Europe revealed how terrible things were. He termed it "depressing," and pointed out that though France, Belgium and England had been victors they were far worse off now than before the war began.

"It proves that war doesn't pay," he stated.

No nation in the world is as well off as the United States and few are better off than Sweden, the speaker said.

His nation must be called one of the happiest countries of the world and this he ascribed to several factors: the transfer from an agricultural to an industrial nation through the skill and perseverance of employers and workers and to Sweden's good relationship with the United States. The exchange of experiences with this nation has been highly beneficial, he said, in development of Sweden.

Mr. Hirdman stressed the fact that King Gustav V, whose 90th birthday anniversary falls today, is the No. 1 citizen of Sweden and pointed out that he was not a royalist, but a progressive. He declared the Swedish people were united in their admiration and appreciation of the King and he paid homage to the rule of the Bernadottes.

"Peace has been one of the main reasons for the happiness of the Swedish people and we have been involved in no wars since the Bernadottes assumed the rule of Sweden," he affirmed.

Hitler had little respect for anyone but he did have sufficient respect for King Gustav so that Sweden could maintain peace at not too high a price.

"Long live the King of Sweden," "Long live our friendly relations with the United States," he said in closing.

John A. Wilson
Admitted To The Bar Recently

John A. Wilson, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert A. Wilson, of Manistique, was admitted to the bar in a ceremony which was held at Detroit last Friday before Judge Ira W. Jayne. He was one of 42 to be so honored.

Mr. Wilson took his pre-legal course at the University of Michigan and studied law one year at that institution, completing his legal training at the Detroit University. He completed his bar examination recently. He has been employed with the Bankers Trust Company in Detroit.

Soo Line Commended
For Participation In Savings Bond Plan

Fred J. Hallen, payroll auditor and bond officer for the Soo Line and Duluth South Shore and Atlantic railroads received special commendation from Vernon L. Clark, national director of the Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury department, at a recent meeting of H. C. Groat, president of the Soo Line, P. L. Solenthei, Trustee of DSS & A, Fred J. Hallen, and Darrell D. Bandy, Minnesota, state director of the Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury department, who represented Clark.

Bandy said to Hallen on behalf of Clark, "You and your fellow workers are a splendid example of what can be done in promoting individual thrift and individual security. In future years the wonderful results of Payroll Savings will be seen in homes that would not otherwise have been missed, and in dignified retirement for thousands of people."

Mr. Hallen said in accepting the commendation, "Employees of the Soo Line have purchased over 263,000 savings bonds worth $8,679,803, maturity value, since the payroll savings plan went into effect during the war. They have acquired the habit of thrift, and find that saving through U. S. Savings Bonds is not only profitable, it is also patriotic."

The Treasury Department is emphasizing the need of increased payroll savings participation during America's Security Loan Drive which is now in progress and will continue through June 30, and was made as one of the key note meetings of Security Week which will commence June 21, in Minnesota.

H. C. Groat, president of the Soo Line said, "Employee participation in the payroll savings plan is very important from both the standpoint of thrift and patriotic support of the efforts of the Treasury Department in furthering sound financial conditions for the government of the country at large."

City Will Purchase
Playground Equipment

Expenditure of $1,800 for purchase of playground equipment was authorized by the city commission in regular session Monday evening.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson was authorized to purchase three slides, 6, 8 and 12 feet in height; one swing unit with 8 seats, two of which are of a design for tiny tots; two see-saws; two cat-walks or jungle gyms and one merry-go-round.

The action came in response to a request by the Parent-Teachers Association which stated that playground development is one of their projects and asked cooperation of the city in the matter. The letter pointed out that there was need for additional equipment at the Buckeye playground and urged installation of equipment at an area northwest of the beach-house.

The letter stated that if the city would purchase equipment now so a start on the project could be made, the PTA would raise a like sum the following year.

Beverly Burt was engaged as recreation director to replace Zania Rivers who resigned effective yesterday. In resigning Mrs. Rivers said her physician had recommended complete rest as a health measure.

The proposal to blacktop the road to the harbor and beach-house was rejected.

Action was taken to change Ordinance 234 which contains regulations pertaining to the yacht harbor. The changes, if effected, would permit the use of the west and south sides of the harbor for mooring of boats and would limit use of the harbor to pleasure craft. City Manager Henrikson said.

Girls, 13, Save
Gladstone Child
From Drowning

Larry Trekas, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Trekas, was saved from drowning in the channel leading to the Gladstone Yacht harbor Tuesday afternoon by Rose Marie Nieuwenkamp, 13, and Marion Apelgren, also 13.

The child had been fishing with his older brother on the breakwater and fell into the channel as they were walking back. The brother attempted to reach him from the bank, but was unable to do so. The two girls, who had been casting, ran over when they heard the splash, and grasping the child's hands which were above water, pulled him to safety.

Water at that point in the channel is from 6 to 8 feet deep. Rose Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wynand Nieuwenkamp and Marion is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Apelgren.

Larry suffered no ill effects from his experiences.

Night Inaugural Smashing Success In Detroit; Hal Beats A's, 4 To 1

If That Was Sample,
Night Baseball Can Remain In Detroit

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS "It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Detroit, June 16 (P)—Night baseball arrived in Detroit last night, and if the Tigers' 4 to 1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics before 54,480 fans is an adequate sample, it's here to stay.

As a matter of fact, the inaugural of Briggs Stadium's new $400,000 lighting system cast such a brilliant mark on the box office and the box score as well that everybody from Owner Walter O. Briggs right down to the batboy probably is wishing today the schedule called for more than the 14 night games that are on tap.

It was a great night—for everybody but the Athletics. And even they did all right financially.

With Hal Newhouser pitching his best game of the year, the A's didn't cut much of a figure at bat, though. It went into the books as a two-hit triumph for Hal, who now has won eight games, seven of them in a row.

Dick Wakefield and Pat Mullin got into the spirit of the occasion, belting a homer apiece in the eighth inning.

And to round out the evening, Third Baseman George Kell treated the cash customers to two of the sweetest fielding plays seen here all year.

Newhouser walked six men and his passes kept him from being the first Detroit pitcher to win a shutout this season.

Two first inning walks set the stage for the A's to score their only run of the game on Hank Majeski's double into the right field corner. Eddie Joost got the other Philadelphia hit, also a double, and also into the right field corner, in the eighth.

Kell robbed Pete Suder of a hit by spearing his hot grounder in a diving stop along the foul line 20 feet back of third base and throwing him out in the fourth. He also leaped high in the air to nab Joe Coleman's liner in the fifth, another lick that looked like a sure hit.

Art Houtteman, sidetracked last night to give Newhouser a chance to hurl the night opener, was slated to oppose Rookie Lou Brissie of the Athletics in today's second game of the series.

Sports Mirror

Today a year ago—Rocky Graziano scored a fifth round technical knockout over Jerry Fiorello in Toledo, Ohio.

Three years ago—Polynesians, 12-1, won the 55th Preakness at Pimlico with Hoop Jr. second.

Five years ago—The Canadian army refused Johnny Greco permission to fight Bob Montgomery in New York.

Ten years ago—Ralph Guldahl won the Western Open Golf tournament for the third time in a row at St. Louis.

Jersey Joe had better not be too confident.

Further evidence of the postwar revival of interest in baseball is provided by the growth of junior baseball in Escanaba. The program is directed by Jerome Deloria of the city recreation department.

In 1946, Jerome had 10 junior teams. Last summer, he had 15, and this season, 21 boys' teams are organized in three leagues according to age groups and are playing a regular schedule.

In addition to the 21 teams playing a regular schedule, two teams of boys from four to 10 years of age are getting baseball instruction from Deloria and other recreation leaders and will be entered in the league next summer. Climax of the organizational phase of the program was the forming of the Escanaba Junior Baseball association.

To accomplish all this, a great deal of leg work by Deloria was necessary. He had to procure sponsors, and he had to talk to hundreds of boys and keep them interested until the program actually got underway. Boys develop new interests and forget old ones very readily.

But Deloria is a modest fellow. In talking about all this other day, his only point of emphasis was to thank the sponsors for providing equipment for the boys. It means a lot to them.

You know how youngsters are. If they have a "T" shirt and a peaked cap with the name or letters of their team thereon, they're satisfied. That makes it strictly "big league." And that's why Deloria thanks the sponsors for making the boys happy. They are to be congratulated. Instruction and encouragement now will go a long way toward providing ample baseball talent here in the future and, perhaps, toward giving some youngster a boost along the trail to major league fame.

Cuff notes: A local fan drops a penny post card in the mail to put in a plea for an Upper Peninsula all-star basketball game on the same order as the U. P. all-star football game in Negaunee. . . "I am sure fans would like to see one and would support it," he says. "Why not have it right here in Escanaba?" It would be interesting to see, all right, but our opinion is that MHSAA regulations would prohibit it.

If the MHSAA can throttle the all-star grid game as it has—a game that is played during the summer and not during school year—it certainly could close the damper completely on an all-star basketball game during the school year. . . No. A Local Fan, it's a fine idea but it just wouldn't work. . . The MHSAA wouldn't stand for it.

Wakefield Hitting .500 Since Return To Lineup

Detroit, June 16 (P)—Prince Hal Newhouser is hot and the Detroit Tigers are beginning to catch fire all over.

Barely a week ago the Bengals were flirting with seventh place. Five straight victories have lifted them into a firm fourth, just two games back of the third place New York Yankees.

That's no immediate cause for alarm among the league leading Cleveland Indians, seven full games away, but it's adequate warning Detroit may cut a figure in the American league flag fight after all.

Round Steve O'Neil, the Tigers' portly pilot, is glowing in the upsurge but the man from Minooka, Pa., isn't exactly excited about it.

"We're still seven games behind and that's a lot, even at the middle of June," Steve said cautiously. "But we're coming along, playing the kind of ball I was confident we would when we got squared away. If we keep getting the pitching we can cause trouble."

The Tigers' move upward stems directly from their steady improvement. Not once in Detroit's last eight games has the pitching yielded more than eight hits. Only one of those games went into the defeat column.

Newhouser, who came back with a bang after dropping four of his first five games, now has won seven straight.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, right-hand punch of Detroit's brilliant wartime "win twins," is back in form as well. Trout has won four of his last five starts and has seven victories, just one less than Newhouser.

O'Neil admits "it's encouraging." But almost as encouraging as the return to pitching form is an accompanying brilliance at bat and in the field.

Six Tigers are hitting .300 or better, including four outfielders—Pat Mullin (.328), Hoot Evers (.381), a revitalized Dick Wakefield (.303) and Vic Vito (.306). With Wakefield belting the ball at a cool .500 clip since he was restored to the lineup a week ago, Wertz must ride the bench.

Though they're a fourth place club, the Tigers are playing like they have eyes on the pennant. At the current pace, they can mean business yet.

Newhouser Hurls
Two-Hitter, His
7th Straight Win

By Joe Reichler

Associated Press Sports Writer

The inauguration of night baseball in Detroit proved a smashing success—thanks to the strong left arm of Hal Newhouser.

The star Tiger southpaw, pitching the first home night game in Detroit history, gave added proof last night he still was the best lefthander in the American league when he twirled a two-hit 4-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

It was the seventh successive victory for Newhouser and the fifth in a row for the Tigers.

A near-capacity crowd of 54,480 which came to view the new $400,000 lighting plant saw the Tiger outfielder provide Newhouser with all the backing he needed.

Left Fielder Dick Wakefield belted his third home run of the season, Right Fielder Pat Mullin smashed his ninth four-bagger and Centerfielder Hoot Evers batted in the other two runs with a pair of singles.

Best Record At Night

It was Detroit's fifth success in six night engagements, the best record of any club in the majors. It also narrowed the third place New York Yankees' lead to only two games. The Yankees were beaten by the White Sox 9-3 in an 11-inning thriller in Chicago.

Barney McCosky crashed into the concrete wall while attempting to catch Wakefield's home run drive in the eighth and was carried off the field on a stretcher. It was believed the A's left-fielder escaped with a bruised back.

The Yankees overcame a seven-run third inning by the White Sox to deadlock their game 8-8 in the eighth, but the Sox came back with a run in the last of the 11th to win. A single by Taft Wright, a two-base wild throw by Catcher Logi Berra in an attempt to nip the stealing Wright, and Pitcher Earl Caldwell's deep fly accounted for the winning run. It was Berra who forced the game into overtime with a three-run homer in the eighth.

The Boston Red Sox spoiled Cleveland's homecoming by handing the Indians a 7-3 setback in a night game in Cleveland. The American league leaders, however, retained their three-game bulge over the runner-up A's.

Braves Take Lead

Southpaw Rookie Mel Parnell gained his second victory of the season with a neat seven-hitter in outpitching Bob Lemon.

Johnny Sain pitched the Boston Braves into undisputed possession of the National league lead by defeating the Chicago Cubs in a night game in Boston, 6-3. Sain allowed only six hits in chalking up his seventh victory.

Boston's win, coupled with Pittsburgh's 2-0 victory over the Giants in New York, enabled the Braves to break their first-place deadlock with the Giants. The Polo grounders fell into a second place tie with Pittsburgh.

The fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals remained a game and a half off the pace by edging out the Phillies 2-1 in a night game in Philadelphia. The sixth place Dodgers nipped the Cincinnati Reds 5-4 in Brooklyn. It was the only game played in daylight.

The scheduled night game between the Washington Senators and the Browns in St. Louis was postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

TRIBUNE LEAD DWINDLES

(By The Associated Press)

Indianapolis' American Association lead had dwindled to 3½ games today as the Tribe lost to St. Paul and the second-place Milwaukee Brewers scored a shut-out over Columbus. Glenn Elliott hurled a four-hitter to give the Brewers a 3-0 win over the Redbirds. Indianapolis was decimated 6-4 by the Saints.

Escanaba Junior Softball Leagues Formed Tomorrow

The first organization meeting of the Escanaba Junior Softball association will be held at the Youth Center at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Anyone interested in entering a team in either the Cadet or Midget league is asked to attend and to bring a list of his players. It is planned to play two games a week beginning June 28.

Those 13 years of age and under will play in the Midget league and those older will participate in the Cadet circuit.

Sugar Ray May Lose Championship By Being Overweight

Chicago, June 16 (P)—Sugar Ray Robinson today was faced by the threat of losing his welterweight title on the scales in his 15-round championship go against challenger Bernard Docusen tomorrow night.

A great deal of mystery surrounded Robinson's exact weight for his third title defense before an estimated 15,000 at Comiskey Park.

Robinson must weigh 147 on the official scales tomorrow to be considered defending welter champion. Estimates of his weight yesterday varied from 149 to 152.

The champion, defeated only once in 88 bouts over an eight-year period, possibly can sweat off his excess poundage.

But if he fails, boxing rules dictate that he must vacate his crown and fight Docusen, 21-year-old cutie from New Orleans, in an overweight bout.

The title then will be thrown up for grabs in a tourney of welter contenders.

Gladstone Women's Pairings in Golf

Gladstone, June 16—Pairings for women's day play at the Gladstone Golf Club were announced yesterday. Teams competing are captained by Mrs. R. P. Davis and Mrs. G. E. Dehlin.

The pairings:

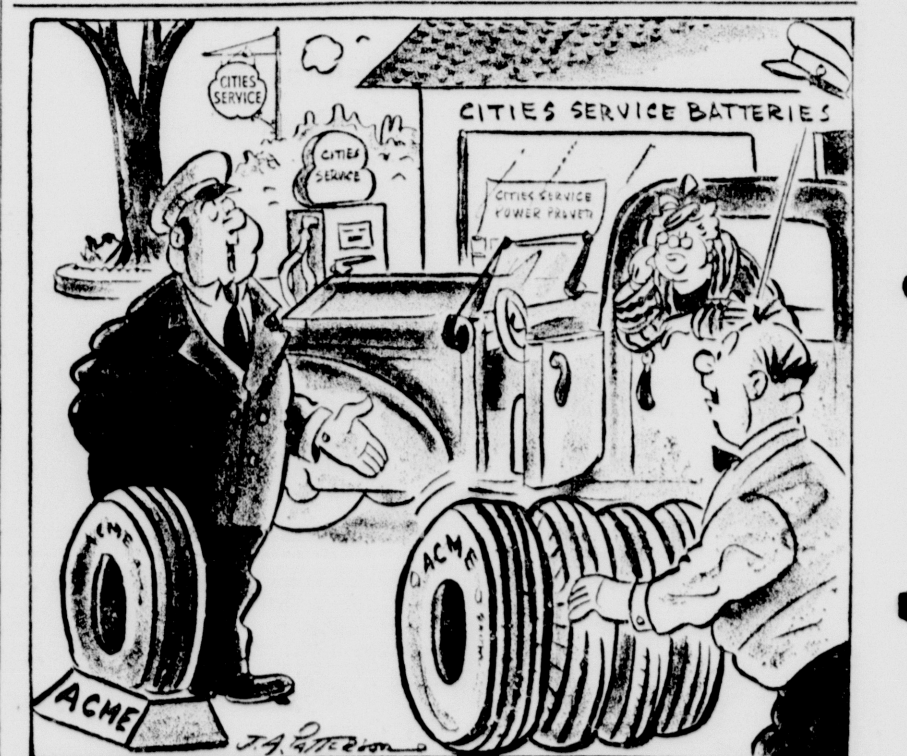

Isabel Davis-Josie Dehlin, Ethel Bray-Marguerite Peterson, Mickey Esler-Helen Norstrom, Rosalie Looby-Blanche Burk, Marion Olson-Alice D'Amour, Ila Hoffa-Ruth Mathison, Erna Tang-Val Praiss, Agnes Erickson-Eleanor Trombley, Eva Caron-Peg Poffenberger, Bernice Burton-Irma Siebert, Mabel Stenac-Albertine Beaudry, Mary Kinzie-Dorothy Coulter, Maude Jackson-Jane Empson.

There will also be a special section for women who do not wish to compete in the regular play. In this section at present are Helen Erickson, Blanche Neveaux and Pauline Dehlin. Others are invited to join.

DAYTON IS RUNNERUP (By The Associated Press)

The Dayton Indians were camped in the Central league's runner-up spot today (Wednesday), a game ahead of the Muskegon Clippers they pushed out with a twin victory last night. The Redmen demonstrated both hitting power and pitching finesse to put away 12 to 2 and 1 to 0 wins.

Escanaba Normal Again After Swedish Festival

Escanaba returned to normal today after some busy hours yesterday during which Scandinavians from all over the Upper Peninsula participated in the Swedish Pioneer Centennial celebration.

Prince Bertil and his official delegation hopped off from the Escanaba municipal airport at 5:35 p. m. yesterday in an American Airlines plane for Chicago, where they will attend a party held in celebration of the 90th birthday anniversary of King Gustaf of Sweden, grandfather of the prince. A large crowd waved the royal party a fond farewell at the airport.

Prince Bertil tried a half hour of walleye fishing in Bay de Noc before the noon luncheon, but the fish weren't biting. He posed, however, with a big walleye which was brought along by photographers, just in case Prince Bertil's fishing luck wasn't so good. Fishing for only a half hour in mid-day the prince did not get a strike.

Officers of the Rockford, Ill., Pioneer Centennial celebration flew here Tuesday to attend Escanaba's event. They were Swan Hillman, Rockford industrialist, and Herman G. Nelson, newspaperman, who came with members of their families. Another Rockford newspaperman, C. Hjalmar Nelson, who worked with the Escanaba Daily Press 20 years ago, also flew here in Hillman's eight-place plane.

After leaving the fairgrounds program yesterday afternoon, Prince Bertil met with members of the Gladstone Swedish club at the House of Ludington at a social gathering.

Capacity Audience Is Thrilled With Performance Of Sofia Girls

The Sofiafläckorna gymnasts of Stockholm, Sweden, who performed here last night as a part of the Swedish Pioneer-C&NW centennial, thrilled a capacity audience in William Oliver auditorium.

Taught by Mrs. Maja Carlquist, who perfected and smoothed the art, as initiated in Sweden by Pierr Ling in the early 19th century, the girls performed with grace and ease, in a variety of gymnastic feats.

The program opened with the girls doing a rope-jumping exhibition. They then progressed into more difficult acts and offered a variety of tumbling and twirling, with each of the 15 performing in strict rhythm and perfect precision.

Two Girls Injured

Two of the Sofiafläckorna troupe of girl gymnasts, who performed in Escanaba in connection with the Swedish Centennial celebration, were injured during their performance Tuesday.

In the afternoon at the fairgrounds, Marta Bjorklund sustained the loss of a toenail, and in the evening at the Wm. Oliver auditorium, Bierget Sistonen fractured her right ankle. Both girls left Escanaba with the troupe this morning but will be disabled for two months.

An exciting and breath-taking part of the program was devoted to performance on a narrow bar, upheld by a three pillared support. The girls mounted the bar, and then danced and executed several difficult positions.

Tumbling, and rolling, over a four-foot platform, constituted the next section of the program. The girls took running jumps, landed on either the hands or back and then somersaulted onto a mat.

Mrs. Carlquist, who spoke briefly in Swedish before the performance was on stage at all times and commanded the gymnasts in their exhibition.

Following the acrobatics, the Sofia girls were featured in several Swedish folk dances, with recorded music. They were much like the European folk dances learned by American students in physical education classes, and were performed with grace and precise rhythm in colorful costumes.

Mrs. Carlquist, a vegetarian, teaches gymnastics in the public schools in Stockholm. In 1936 she began teaching the Ling system. Her troupe members are free to eat and sleep as they please, with only a few words of healthful advice.

The troupe on tour in the United States is composed of 15 girls, 15-

24 years old. The Sofia girls have appeared in more than 400 performances since they were organized and have participated in international sports events.

The girls travel with four leaders, and officially represent the youth of Sweden. For their performances they wear a brief 'gym' suit with a miniature Swedish flag imposed on the bodice.

Miss Marta Linder, gymnastic instructor; Miss Signe Bengtson, folk school teacher; and Karl Briant, director and property man, travel with the troupe.

Performing in the U. S. tour are Ann Charlotte Andersson, Vivi Ann Berg, Marta Bjorklund, Gerd Bjorkman, Kerstin Engstrom, Gullveig Ehrngren, Ingegerd Jacobsen, Nanny Johansson, Aneta Melcher, Margaretha Nilvang, Maggan Norrell, Elsa Ryd, Birgit Sistonen, Inga-Sara Svensson and Kerstin Wersall.

The troupe left last night for Chicago and will perform there tonight.

MAKE NO MISTAKE ...

When buying a water heater! The larger the capacity of your tank, the cheaper it will be to heat water .. in the long run.

IT IS BETTER to have too large a heater, than too small a one.

PRESTELINE engineers have taken consideration of these facts and designed the larger sizes for economy.
